RAVE REVIEWS.

There's a reason some of the world's best filmmakers keep coming back to Liverpool.

"From the moment we first enquired about bringing 'So Awkward' to Liverpool for its 7th season, Liverpool Film Office, provided a superb resource on locations, hotels and crewing. Whatever the enquiry, it was dealt with efficiently and the professionals they introduced us to were always charming and looked to make our use of the city as easy as possible. The shoot was a great success and our actors, despite the difficulty of the pandemic, enjoyed their stay. Liverpool is a welcoming city and Liverpool Film Office is the gateway to ensuring the success of your production within the city."

Richard Everiss, Line Producer

"Working within the locations department, at some point, you may well run into trouble... When I did, I phoned Liverpool Film Office - Solutions, guidance and practicality. They offered sound advice and solid support that I needed to keep everyone in production happy. I can't give them enough praise. On the last shoot of ''The Tower.' for Mammoth Screen / ITV. I mainly dealt with Sharon Simons who went above and beyond in making herself available to help with on-the-ground knowledge, advice and contacts but more surprisingly, someone I could actually talk and relate to (Sharon, you were great. So, thank you). And of course, thanks to all of you at Liverpool Film Office."

Jean-Paul Banks Mercer, Unit Manager

"LFO is full of positive energy, they tackled all the questions and requests which were thrown at them. All of Liverpool's doors are open as long as you have them on your side. They know all the places and people you need to know in order to make your life & job easier."

Michele Maurer, Assistant to Executive Producer

"Working with Liverpool Film Office has been an absolute dream and has made the process of running our event in Liverpool so easy. We had a quick chat over the phone and following that were supplied with an extensive list of options for hotels and restaurants that were fully costed and made narrowing down our choices so simple. Sharon set up viewings for all our choices and accompanied us on the day. Having her local knowledge as well as extensive insight into the venues we were looking at was invaluable and made making our final decisions that much easier. It's great to see the film industry thriving in Liverpool right now and the support that the Film Office offer is incredibly helpful in streamlining planning your event."
